SCHOOL OPENINGS NEXT WEEK

Public Schools Begin Monday. Pnillips on Tuesday and Abbot a Week Later. Buildings in Good Shape. Changes in Teachers.

The Andover Public Schools begin their work next week with several changes in the teaching staff. In the High School, two teachers have resigned, Miss Sarah B. Codding who taught Mathematics and Miss Natalie Upton, head of the Commercial Department. Miss Marjorie Faunce fills the first vacancy and Miss Edna Bennett of Andover takes Miss Upton's place. In the Stowe School, seventh grade, the position of Miss Bernice Abbott, who is to be away on a leave of absence, will be filled by Mrs. Cecelia Derrah, while Miss Alice Coutts will take the sixth grade and Miss Ella L. Thomas the fourth grade. Miss Eileen Powers and Miss Louise Magoon from Indian Ridge and North Schools, respectfully, have resigned. In the Richardson School, Miss Genevieve McNally will take the place of Miss Emma Ward who will have a leave of absence. Wm. B. Hazelton of the Manual Training Department will be in Cambridge this year and his position is filled by Carl H. Adams who will be three days in the public schools and will devote the remainder of his time to teaching at Phillips Academy.

The new High School Building with its bright sunshiny rooms, its new cleanness, modern laboratories, comfortable typewriting desks and excellent staff of teachers offers a great inducement to the boys and girls who are possibly feeling the restless desire for getting out into the world as soon as possible. With all the many openings for earning money in the over-crowded factories and war plants, school routine seems dull and out-of-date, but our country must profit by the experience of England and France and make the boys and girls realize that they must patiently prepare themselves for the big future work which will fall to them all too soon. Without the fundamental education which is given in the secondary schools there is not much future nowadays, and Andover is very fortunate in being able to offer such an exceptionally good fundamental education to her boys and girls. The times demand that the High School should have a large enrollment in both its business and academic courses.

Fire Insurance Deals With the Waste of the Nation

Here are some figures that should open our eyes. In 1913, the year before the outbreak of the war, the average fire loss for each man, woman and child was as follows:

France	$.49	Austria	$.25
England	.33	Italy	.25
Germany	.28	Switzerland	.15
	Holland $.11

Now is the time to have your heating apparatus thoroughly overhauled for the winter. This should be done by a competent mechanic. Do not put it off.

MEN WHO PAY BIG TAXES

The High Rate Makes the List a Long One. Andover has 331 Citizens Who Pay Over $100. There Are 32 Who Pay Over $500.

Andover's tax list increases its number of payers of $50 and over, every year, but the present war rate this year adds a larger number of new names than usual, as well as making an exceedingly high amount of income. The two highest taxpayers are the Tyer Rubber Company which heads the list, and the Smith & Dove Co., whose figures are also in the thousands. This money is representative of many different kinds of business, some flourishing, some poor, but all affected directly or indirectly by the war. And these heavy taxpayers are the ones who financially support the town. By giving the community a firmly dependable foundation they make it of vital value to the country.

More than a generation ago, "M'lss" was a reigning stage success, dramatized by Clay Green, a distinguished playwright ,who recently was stricken with blindness in California. In the stage version, there was a combination of several of the Harte western stories and one that is certain to hold the interest of the most hardened picture patron.

The story of Rex Beach's greatest picture, "The Auction Block," which is to be shown at the Andover Colonial Theatre Friday, September 13, is the life history of a beautiful girl who is raised by her parents for the specific purpose of being placed for sale to the highest bidder in the matrimonial market.

In due course of time Lorelei meets the dissolute son of a millionaire, and, in accordance with the family plan, marr es him. It so happens, however, that the young man is not as wealthy as was at first supposed; and when Lorelei learns this and he finds that he has been duped, they go their separate ways, Lorelei becoming queen of the night world in which she lives. The story becomes very involved with many changes towards the growth and development of both husband and wife up to the ending which is thrilling and satisfactory.

To Andover Public:-
You will be interested to know that on Wednesday, September 18, I will show at my theatre the finest and most remarkable picture ever put on the screen. It is the story of "Les Miserables," Victor Hugo's masterpiece, with William Farnum as "Jean Valjean."

the most famous characters of these will be seen in "M'lss," the latest photoplay of the days of '49, starring Mary Pickford.

"M'liss" is a delightful feature play, which will be no less successful in its appeal to the public as have been all of Miss Pickford's recent picture successes. This photoplay will be seen at the Colonial Theatre next Monday.

Robert Warwick, who numbers his film followers in hundred thousand lots, will make his first appearance as a Selznick-Picture star at the Andover Colonial Theatre on Wednesday, September 11 in a screen version of the great detective drama, "The Argyle Case."ffThis is the play that created such a furore throughout the country when originally produced with Robert Hilliard in the central role.

The authors of "The Argyle Case," Harvey J. O'Higgins and Harriet Ford, conceived the idea from the exploits of the famous private detective William J. Burns, the first of the modern school of crime detectors to make use of the dictograph. In order to make their production as realistic as possible, the authors called in Mr. Burns as collaborator and in producing the picture borator and in producing the picture version, Eirector Ralph W. Ince also sought the famous detective's aid.

The story of "The Argyle Case" is

I am so pleased with having booked this picture for mya patrons that I hasten to tell you about it so that you will have plenty of time to make arrangements to see it.

No doubt you know the story of this most famous character of literature, this character that has done ture, this character that has done so much to make people live better lives, this character that has caused officials to think more of those who break the law. Mr. Farnum makes Jean Valjean live again. Under the scholarly direction of Mr. Frank Lloyd every point in the story is brought out with vividness that "grips at the throat" as Robert Louis Stevenson remarked of an incident in the book.

William Fox, who produced the picture, spent an immense amount of money to make this picture perfect. He built, at a cost of $50,000, an entire French village in Fort Lee, N. J., to stage the battle of the revolutionists in 1831. Men of the Seventy-first New York Regiment took part in the battle scenes.

This picture is certainly a wonderful creation. I am trying to book the best in the market for your entertainment and know you will be pleased with "Les Miserables."

Cordially yours,
SAMUEL RESNIK,
Manager Andover Colonial Theatre.

Supt. of Schools, Mr. Haynes and the committee on schools have received the resignation of Walter S. Adams as principal of the Methuen high school. The resignation was received only within a day or two and while this is rather a short notice for resignations, the committee and superintendent have made arrangements to make substitutions for the present. Another of the high school staff has also resigned, Miss Bessie Jones, who has been on the staff for several years past. Mr. Adams is to accept a position in the Brockton high school as the head of one of the departments in the high schools of that city. Mr. Adams came to Methuen to succeed Edward J. Murray as sub-master at the local high school in the fall of 1913, having been appointed by the school board the previous May. He was then teaching and was principal of the high school in Brookfield, Mass. His former home was in Salem, where he attended the high school and took part in all the activities of the school. He was graduated from Wesleyan university in June ,1905 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. In college he made a special study of languages and science, pursuing courses in French, German and Spanish that qualified him as a teacher in these languages as well as in sciences.

LAWRENCE

Walter W. Doerr, formerly of the Shoe Store, has arrived overseas.

Neil Lynch, of the Yale Ambulance Unit, has been cited for bravery under fire.

James R. Sewall has been made second lieutenatn of the Field Artillery at Camp Taylor, Ky.

Thomas Morton of 207 Willow street, has been promoted Sergeant in the 4th Anti-Aircraft Machine Gun Battalion.

Mrs. Eliza P. Ashton of Lowell, the mother of Rev. Lee Ashton, pastor of the Salem street P. M. church, was killed in an automobile accident in Buffalo, N. Y.

The enrollment at the High School was as high as that of last year. Francis J. O'Brien will leave October first for limited service and after the new draft, several other men will undoubtedly have to go.

Louis A. Mahoney, formerly of this city, has been made general sales manager of the United Shoe Machinery Company in Brazil. He was graduated from Harvard in 1912 .

Miss Emma Ramsay, who since her graduation from Radcliffe College, has taught at the State Normal School of Westfield, has been transferred to the Lowell Normal School.

Private Charles Kariaky, one of the first Lawrense boys to go to Devens, was gassed and left France, July 25, He was sent to a Plattsburg hospital and is now at home on a seven day furlough after which he will return to Plattsburg.

Private Wm. L. Burke of the U. S. Marines was married last week in Worcester to Miss Teresa B. McDermott. Private Burke is a former Lawrence pitcher and has also played with the Boston Nationals.

Dr Granville S. Allen, a well-known local physician, has received his commission as captain and his orders to report at Fort Williams, Me. His home is at 3 State street, and he has been a member of the General Hospital staff for several years.

Henry J. Regan, 81 Newbury street, Corp. Howard J. Boyle of 85 Saratoga street, overseas with Company F. of the 101st Infantry, Private James M. Higgins, 308 Machine Gun Company and Private G. Larochelle, Company B, 9th. Infantry have been kklled in action.

The Reid and Hughes Dry Goods Store have offered their store as Headquarters for the collection of peach stones and they have placed a barrel outside their front door where these stones may be deposited. Remember—two hundred peach stones may save a soldier's life.

Five Lawrence boys have been commissioned Second lieutenants in the U. S. Army and have received their assignments. John J. Hogan and Augustine McCarthy go to Camp Meade, Md., while Arthur Burckel, Edward Lyneg,and Henry Donovan will report at Camp Devens.

Gerard B. Galloway of 90 Butler street, who was aboard the U. S. S. Lake Portage, the boat which was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine off France, August 3, is at his home on a furlough. He had been on the U. S. S. San Diego but was transferred a month before that boat was sunk.

Lawrence in its proportion of population shows the largest number of alien enemy women of German extraction. This fact has been found from the registration figures for New England. Boston heads the list with 833 Lawrence. comes next with 192 while Holyoke is third.

The auto van of the Catholic Truth Guild, will appear on the Lawrence Common on Sunday afternoon, September 8. The purpose of this trip to the Pacific coast and return, is one of education and the aim is to bring a message of the Church to thousands of those unfamiliar with the doctrine of Catholicity.

Lieut. John S. Wiley, a former Andover and Yale baseball and football star, has been transferred to Camp Grant, Ill. He was sent as an instructor from Camp Devens to the first Harvard F. O. T. C., this summer. He was graduated from Andover in 1913 where he was Captain of the baseball team.

A service Flag in honor of the Prospect Hill boys is to be unfurled on Columbus day. City Marshall Timothy F. O'Brien, the chairman, has asked Ex. Gov. David L. Walsh and Fuel Administrator James J. Storrow to deliver addresses. The Committee is canvassing for a bronze tablet and it is hoped and expected that a very gala affair will take place.

Speaking for the Central Labor Union, James Hughes said that the impression that the body he represented approved of the raise in pay sought by all city employes except those in the school department was wrong. He said that the body of men in the ranks of organized labor approved heartily the efforts of the school employes to get money enough from their work to maintain the same standards of living that the great increase in the high cost of living threatened to reduce. Everything that organized labor has said in favor of raises for other city employes is said in favor of the teachers with as much earnestness and approval.

NORTH ANDOVER

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Ward Hill Congregational church, which is attended by a number of local people, will be observed with special services Sunday, September 15.

A mission will begin at St. Michael's church on Sunday, September 29. It will be conducted by Dominican priests. These missioners are eloquent preachers and their able sermons always atrract large congregations. Complete details of the mission will be announced later by Rev. George W. Haley, the pastor.

In an automobile accident which occurred in North Andover Tuesday noon, Mrs. William Sutton, Miss Helena Dooley and Mrs. Mary McLoon, an elderly woman, all of North Andover, were injured when the car which Miss Dooley was driving collided with the Sutton car. The accident took place at the corner of Main and Elm streets, but as neither car was going fast, a more serious accident was averted. Mrs. Sutton was the only occupant of the car besides her chauffeur. When the cars hit she was thrown forward and was badly cut with class. She was taken to her home where she is reported as resting comfortably.

The North Andover Canning station is doing a great business five days of each week. Green corn is being put up in great quantities just now, and experience proves that where pint cans are used instead of pint jars two layers can be put in the hot water tank at once, thus doubling the output in a given time. The glass jars cannot be put one on top of another. The cans can. The object being to put up as much each day as possible the cannery urgently hopes that the public will co-operate with them and will use pint cans where possible instead of pint jars. Please notice that this applies only to pints, as the quart containers are used in one layer only, and so glass or tin is equally acceptable.

Mrs. Grace Pearl Webster Foster, of Dole street, died recently at the Lawrence General hospital, at the age of fifty-seven years. She leaves her husband, Nathan, nine children, Mrs. Albert Currier of Haverhill, Charles H. Foster, Creston, Washington; Ernest W. Foster who is with Co. F., 104th Regt. A. E. F., Ruth B; Mrs. E. L. Souther, West Boxford; Guy E. Foster; Ralph S. Rachael T; and Orin B. Foster; eleven grandchildren, mother, Mrs. Ruth M. Webster ,and brother, ex-Representative George P. Webster. Mrs. Foster was a member of the North Andover grange and the Essex County Pomona, and the State and National grange, and the Independent Order of Puritans, Pittsburg, Pa. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon, at 2 O' clock at the West Boxford Congregational church.

If the city of Lawrence draws a million gallons of water a day from Lake Cochichewick for a period of two months at the rate of ten cents a hundred cubic feet, this town will receive a revenue of approximately $8000. The contract, which was drawn up by Attorney Jeremiah F. Mahoney, counsel for the town, will be in force for a period of three months, but Supt. Michael F. Collins of the Lawrence water board estimates that the repairs at the pumping station will be completed in two months. The coal for the extra pumping at the local pumping station, and an engineer will be supplied by the city of Lawrence, but in the final accounting the cost of these two items will be deducted from the town's bill. The contract is an extension of the contract between the city and town last year with the exception that last year the town charged but eight cents a hundred cubic feet. The revenue per day will be roughly one dollar and thirty cents.

All the public schools opened Wednesday, September 4. The following changes have been made in the corps of teachers: Miss Margaret Bowers, an additional teacher in the commercial department of the high school, will teach typewriting, commercial arithmetic, and business correspondence. Miss Mary L. Adams will continue to teach stenography and typewriting. Miss Mary A. Batson, who has taught the Kimball school during the past two years, has been transferred to the Merrimack where she will have charge of an overflow ninth grade class. Miss Mary C. McCarthy, who has taught in Derry several years, will succeed Miss Batson as teacher of the Kimball school. Miss Mary V. Reardon, who has had two years' experience as teacher in the Derry schools, will succeed Miss Elizabeth N. Carter as teacher of the Farnham school. Miss Mary A. Gallagher, who as substitute teacher had charge of the Pond school last year, has been elected the regular teacher of that school for the ensuing year.

The former Speaker of the House of Representatives, Thomas B. Reed, once went into an unfamiliar barber shop to be shaved. The negro barber, says the Christian Register, began to try to sell him a hair tonic.

"Hair purty thin, suh," he said. "Been that way long, suh?"

"I was born that way," replied Reed. "Afterwards I enjoyed a brief period of hirsute efflorescence, but it did not endure."

The barber gasped and said no more. After his customer had gone, some one told him that he had shaved the Speaker.

"Speakah!" he exclaimed. "Don't I know dat? I should say he was a speakah, sure 'nough!"

A Correction

In the report of the Natural History Society meeting on August 24, the types or some one corrected the name of the plant that has rushed up all over Brothers Field along with Mountain mint and called it Crowfoot—good for rattlesnake bites. I feel sure I wrote it Lion's-foot, but most everybody knows my peculiar script. The plant is Nubalus Albus, English name Lion's-foot or White Lettuce; two to four feet tall with variable leaves and greenish, graceful blossoms, the whole plant rather stylish. The botannical name of the mint is Pycnanthemum, named for its little flat top of whitish flowers, which must be examined under a magnifier to learn their delicate beauty and labiate form.

What sends this new colony of coarse vegetables up after the violet when the woods go? Perhaps in filling up the bog for the new running track, etc., soil was fetched from some other neighborhood where this lion's-foot abounds; but I have never seen the mint, also called Wild Basil, growing near my perambulations.

Proper Flour Proportions

The following new regulations for the coming year have been worked out by Mr. Hoover, in conference with the food administrators of the allied nations. They are just the same as are being made for our European allies, so that by the strict observance of them and the continued use of corn bread, we may feel that we are doing our part in sustaining our fighting forces.

The list of authorized flour substitutes has been reduced to corn meal, corn flour, barley flour, pure rye flour and at the customer's option, rice flour, oat flour, potato flour, buckwheat flour and a few other flours which are not sold in Massachusetts. No other cereals than the above are now allowed to be sold as substitutes. Hominy, corn grits, corn starch, rolled oats, oatmeal and rice have been struck out of the list.

The proportion of substitutes required to be sold has been changed from "50-50" to "80-20", except in the case of rye flour, of which two pounds must be sold to three pounds of straight wheat flour. That is, the retailer must now sell to the consumer at least one pound of corn meal, corn flour, barley flour, or of the other permitted substitutes, with each three pounds of straight wheat flour sold; or two pounds of pure rye flour with each three pounds of wheat flour sold.

The same rules apply to sales for public eating houses, clubs and boarding houses, as to sales to individual consumers.

Bakers are also required to use 20% substitutes in all their bread, pastry, etc., But the supplier is not responsible for the amount of substitutes that the baker buys.

A Prophecy

Rev. George Wright in the introduction to "Asiatic Siberia" written in 1902, says of Russia's future: "The curtain is about to rise on the third and final act of the drama in Central and Northern Asia—aboriginal man and the Mongul races have there already had their day. Europe of the Middle Ages has finished its invasion and reached the limit of its development. And now the twentieth century with all its newborn energies is entering upon its more hopeful effort to subdue and utilize to the utmost the latent physical forces of its vast territory. The results will depend upon the wisdom of the ruling minds at St. Petersbury. At present, the Tzar has no more loyal subjects than those residing in his Asiatic dominion. The same political and natural instincts which are now re-consolidating the English-speaking people of the world, may well preserve forever the unity of the great Slavic nation and restore again the golden age to this — which many the golden age to this, which many, with much reason, believe to be the original center of the human race."

The introductory chapters were a fine statement of the movement of this part of Asia towards Europe by the crowding of the Hun for new pastures across the central ranges to the fertile steppes of old Russia. Balamir, the first Hun, in 372 A.D.; the Mongols under Jenghiz Khan to Moscow in the thirteenth century, when Poland and Hungary fell to them, down to the advance at the Urals of the fur-traders and salt-boilers under the Russian Strogouoff colonies in 1582, back again to Siberia, the defense at the Black sea of the orthodix Cossacks, and all the great movements back to Asia again are well set forth.

"The countermarch of the Aryan races had begun, and a Tartar civilization was a thing of the past, reversing the course of empire," said our writer.

Mr. Wright, at eighty, has lived to see the Hun of Europe, the survivor of the Dark Ages, advance to the clutching of this rich area, so well described in this valuable book. He has lived to see Nicholas and his unhappy child pass to a memory of regret, and sees the English-speaking peoples of the world and their new friends, uniting to preserve the unity of the great Slavic nation.

A little hymn we used to chant at the funeral service of babes, recurs to me: "God's ways are not our ways and his designs are far beyond our sight" (not perhaps given literally). But Mr. Wright in his wildest moments of enthusiasm, as he traveled across this ancient Dominion of the Ice Age, would never have dreamed how this unity would be brought to pass. That it would be a world contract sealed in blood, and how a great building of Central European civilization would have to come down and its homes emptied of its swarming horde, going forth with a new longing for freedom, room for new aims, new ideas of "Kultur", when their third generation shall have passed, when the present one of the modern Hun and his old aims will be with the last Nicholas.

Grownups Not Appreciative

The greatest of our many pleasures, prehaps, is to write pieces for and about children, because they are the only ones who appreciate things that are done for them. Grownups don't appreciate that sort of thing. They always find something wrong about it. The reporter doesn't live who can write a piece about a grownup in which the grownups can't find some mistake. But children overlook details, and they are grateful for the reporter's kindly intent. The other day we wrote a piece for the little boy who lives in the big apartment house where everybody else is grown up. Last night we saw the little boy, and asked him if he saw the piece. He said yes, his mamma had read it to him. And then he ran up and kicked us on the shins. It was the first time he ever had flattered us with so much as a glance, and immediately we knew we had made a friend for life. We have written verse by the yard for grownups, but if they ever were pleased with it, they keep the fact carefully concealed.—Kansas City Star.

The time has come for us to decide whether we are to be a part of the war, or merely on-lookers.

This is OUR war. We should ALL be in it. If we cannot go to the trenches, we can serve at home.

The man, woman or child who is not a part of the war, in the face of the sacrifices of our boys over there, has no right to enjoy the sacred privileges of America!—no right to call himself an American! He is an alien, if not in name, at least in spirit.

The money which you invest in War-Savings Stamps buys food and supplies for our boys over there, as well as ammunition. The money that you put into War-Savings Stamps represents that much labor, food and supplies, not used by us, but instead turned over to the Army and Navy. Will you agree to save part of YOURS for your country?

A New Associate Editor

The Townsman announces with pleasure the appointment as associate editor of Miss Elizabeth Cole, daughter of the publisher.

Miss Cole comes to the Townsman with a rare equipment for service. She is a graduate of Abbot Academy and Mount Holyoke College. For five years she has been head of the English department in St. Margaret's School, Waterbury, Connecticut, and in addition to her work in the English department has had charge of dramatics and dramatic training. Her work in Waterbury has also included writing and directing plays and pageants for local activities both in and out of the school, more recently having to do with the direction of different departments of work in the local Red Cross in Waterbury and through the College Club of that city.

Miss Cole will not only take up the news work and organize new methods of handling the reporting work itself, but will direct certain new departments which it is hoped may make the Townsman of increasing interest and value to its constituency. We hardly need to ask, other than through suggestion, that the co-operation which has always been given to the Townsman and its representatives may be as generously extended to her.

"Labor"

"Labor has come into its own." Thus proclaims the great, big mass of people who are drawing the high prices and hitting all the high spots of the present intensive operations of the United States. As a rule this mass of people represents the so-called organized movement which, because of its organization, is able in time of stress to demand and receive certain considerations not possible for other people.

But what is "labor"? Certainly it is not solely confined to the different groups who make up an organization employed solely on war work under an emergency demand that must stand for any exaction that anybody puts upon it product. This cannot for a moment be considered as the only labor worthy of appreciation at a time like this. Yet unfortunately there are evidences that because the different branches making up this kind of labor are organized better than any other branches, they are the only types being considered.

But what of the other great numbers not organized nor even very distinctly related to one another, who because they are not organized and because they do not seem as essential to the immediate and pressing program of government activity as are the diggers, and delvers, and drivers, and drawers, must be content to take what is coming to them, or at best receive but slight increase as compared to the big amounts going elsewhere? For example, who would say that the approximately thousand persons living in Andover, engaged in activities directly related to the prosecution of the war and because of that situation able to exact almost any pay they may desire for the labor they are rendering, are the only people to be considered in the present serious situation?

Why is it that a mill worker is any more essential to the progress of this war even though he may be tending a frame spinning war yarns, than the home worker who keeps his or her activities going seven days in the week, loyally and faithfully, sacrificing more than ever in his life because the demands are so heavy and the increases have come so slowly, but sticking to the same old job because his duty requires that he should be there to serve, (even though indirectly) in just as important a way? This patient, plodding, faithful individual representing seven-eighths of this particular community is suffering today from the drain made upon him by the one-eighth, patiently and uncomplainingly, but in a way that some day is going to be recognized. When this situation is fully recognized, the great public will find that the enormous burdens placed upon the "seven-eights" all over the country by the one-eighth who have had the power, will make a load he'll to carry for many years. There is probably no way out at the present time. There is certainly being enacted a program that the general public will remember for long years after the curtain has rung down on the final act.

Momentous School Openings

The opening of the schools in Andover has a significance this year distinctly different from that associated with any previous school openings.

From the youngest student to the oldest, there will be in training a group of young people who are on the threshold of the most important era in the world's history. They will come into active affairs at a time when it is probable that the disastrous effects of the present world's greatest war will have been largely overcome. Theirs will be the opportunity to take full advantage of the upswing to follow that period directly after the war.

With this in mind, those who have the responsibility for their instruction are laden with greater burdens than have ever before been put upon teachers. There will be those who see in the taking away from the force of instructors many of the bright minds thus engaged, a lessening of the teaching power, but if such a lessening actually exists on paper, there is much of encouragement in the thought that in this field as in all fields, opportunity will make responsibility, and responsibility will bring out the sufficient ability.

This will certainly be true if there is a full appreciation of the seriousness of the situation. In our public schools this serious situation is borne in upon every citizen of the town who has a share in the responsibility. In the private schools it rests more directly upon the selected group of men and women who direct their affairs. Andover's part as a whole is a large one because of both public and private school interests.

Reception

George Davis of Lewis street was given a reception in Abbott Village hall last Saturday by his many young friends in town. Frank Keefe on behalf of the guests presented Mr. Davis with a wrist watch and on behalf of the boys of his camp at Foster's Pond with a safety razor. Mr. Davis responded, after which the young folks proceeded to entertain him in a manner that will not soon be forgotten by him in the service or when he again returns to civil life.

Singing and dancing were enjoyed. Miss Alice Levensky played several selections on the piano. William Sutcliffe sang several pleasing solos. Games were played. During the evening refreshments were served. Mr. Davis left Tuesday for Camp Devens.

Those present were: Alice Levensky, Gertrude Snyder, Martha Moore, Delia Gallant, Jennie Valentine, Edna Mears, May Shaw, Ella Schofield, Winnifred Broughm, Elizabeth Connolly, Julia Danahy, Sadie McLeish, Catherine Gray, Mrs. Charles Gray, Mrs. Joseph Connolly, Mrs. James Gorrie, Isabelle Robinson, Winifred Smith, Alice Newton, Margaret Haddon; George Davis, Joseph Connolly, William Davis, Robert Donaldson, Frank Keefe, John McGraw, Neil Nicoll, James Nicoll, Joseph Hughes, James Gorrie, William Eldred, Daniel Hart, William Harnedy, William Sutcliffe, Patrick Doherty, William Bateson.

Home on Furlough

Herbert W. Holt, Punchard '17, of the U. S. S. Carrib, returned to his ship this week, after a five days' furlough at his home in Frye Village. He has crossed the sea only once but during that trip he visited seven different countries.

A Tribute to Rev. C. C. Carpenter

The following message regarding Mr. Carpenter has come from Dr. Fuess, who is stationed at Camp Joseph E. Johnston in Jacksonville, Fla.

To the Editor of the Townsman, Sir,—

It was with a real sense of gratitude that I read in a recent issue of the Townsman what you had to say in appreciation of the work which the late Reverend C. C. Carpenter performed for the community. My own admiration for the man, my affection for his personality, make it impossible for me to refrain from voicing the regret which every Phillips man must feel in learning of his death. To those of us who used to meet him on the Hill he was the very embodiment of youth, energy, and enthusiasm. Only last winter, sometimes when the snow was deep upon the sidewalks and Academy boys had turned their fleece-lined coats up to protect their ears, we would often pass him on his way to Brechin Hall, where he was going to add one more historic document to the collection which he had so generously formed there. Rich in reminiscences of the old days, he was always willing, even in his busiest hours, to give a few minutes to the clearing up of knotty problems of school history or to the elucidation of references which to everyone but him were obscure. His memory never failed him, even when he had passed four score; and I have heard him repeat the name of a graduate of half a century ago and then, without consulting a record, give a complete summary of the man's career.

As an antiquarian he was tireless in research, never willing to abandon a quest until the last detail had been uncovered. Those who have been interested in town and Academy annals owe him a debt which they cannot repay, for he was ever unselfish in his studies and usually turned over to others the material which he had arduously acquired. Every book dealing with Andover history will necessarily have to be based very largely upon the firsthand investigations which he had for so many years conducted. And all this he did solely through delight in the subject; he craved no recognition and sought no fame. It should be the pleasant duty of town and school to see to it that some suitable memorial is erected and that his honored name is not forgotten.

Very truly yours,
CLAUDE M. FUESS.

To Leave Town Farm

Fred A. Swanton, who for ten years has been the superintendent of the Town Farm, has resigned to do work as a farmer for Phillips Academy. Both Mrs. Swanton and Mr. Swanton have been most efficient in their service in the development and care of the farm, so that their leaving will cause much sorrow to the inmates. At present no successor has been found and the overseers feel that it will be difficult to secure as able and satisfactory a care-taker as Mr. Swanton or so congenial and painstaking a helper as his wife.

Registration for 18-45 Draft

Franklin H. Stacey, chief registrar for Andover, will be in the lower town hall on September 12 from 7 a.m. until 9 p.m., to register men for the 18-45 draft. He will be assisted by the three regular registrars, George A. Christie, Frank L. Brigham and Patrick Barrett, also by five volunteer registrars: Sam Hulme, John Robertson, Herbert E. Russell, Arthur Hall and John Hartigan. In Ballardvale the registration will be held in the old schoolhouse and taken charge of by Charles N. Marland, Joseph Scott and Eldon Fleury. It is expected that approximately 900 men will register in this class so that with the slight change in questions on the registration cards, much work will be entailed. Those registering will receive later their questionnaires.

The Cole Reunion

A beautiful sunshiny day and sixty-five people, old and young, were enough to make this year's Labor Day Reunion at the Old Homestead a most enjoyable affair. There was a well-stocked luncheon table and after eating all the good things everybody was glad to join in games planned by the entertainment committee. The men played baseball, while there were all kinds of races for the children. This year Thrift Stamps were given as prizes and needless to say they were as greatly appreciated as the former boxes of candy prizes.

At the business meeting the same officers received re-election. They are as follows: President, Arthur E. Cole, Salem, N. H.; vice-president, Wm. K. Cole, West Boxford; secretary, Jefferson K. Cole, Newton Center; treasurer, Mrs. J. N. Cole, Andover.

Andover Man Killed

Robert L. Auchterlonie was struck and instantly killed Saturday, August 31, by the Boston-bound train due in Andover that morning at 5.56. He was walking on the track near the northern end of the freight depot when the accident took place, and although assistance came immediately in the police and through Dr. W. D. Walker, there was no hope for him as he had been instantly killed. This makes the second recent death in Andover on this railroad. In this case, however, as well as in that of the other accident, the engineer was not to blame, for he blew his whistle several times.

Mr. Auchterlonie was sixty-one years old and lived with his daughter, Mrs. Hugh Patterson, 18 Burnham road. He leaves besides this daughter, five other married daughters and one married son, Sergeant Alexander Auchterlonie of the Canadian Army. They have the sympathy of many people for their father's tragic death.

A Call for More Nurses

Simultaneously with the nation's call for more fighting men comes Surgeon-General Gorga's call for more nurses. Fifty thousand women will be needed by July 1, 1919, to assist in the care of the sick and wounded of the American Army.

The Army Medical Department have established an Army School of Nursing, at which physically fit young women between the ages of 21 and 35 will be trained to send abroad as the need arises. Our great immediate need is for student nurses in our civil army and navy hospitals to fill the places of graduate nurses who will be called first to go with our troops.

For acceptance in the army and navy hospitals it is necessary to have completed a High School course or its equivalent, and for our civil hospitals the requirements vary with the individual hospital. Application blanks for military and civil hospitals as well as much information regarding various hospitals may be obtained from the local Committee for Recruiting Nurses: Mrs. John V. Holt, 74 Bartlet street; Mrs. Walter Buck, 19 School street; and Mrs. Philip R. French, 276 Main street.

A list of graduate and practical nurses of Andover is being prepared for the Massachusetts Red Cross Committee. Will such nurses send their names at once to Mrs. J. V. Holt, 74 Bartlet street, and state if they are eligible for active service or available for home defense? A list of all women going from Andover and all young women who enter hospitals for nurses' training is being kept for record. Will all to whom this applies send their names to one of the above Committee for Recruiting Nurses.

Leave for Service

Several men have gone from town this week to serve their country. On Tuesday, Robert T. Black, Irving Z. Humphreys, George C. Davis, Fred W. Koch, Jr., Claremont Gray and Liborio Bonitatibus left for Camp Devens. Four went Thursday to Camp Upton:—John F. Winters, Joseph A. Miller, Fred W. Gilliard and Wm. Steed from Ballardvale. He makes the fortieth man from Ballardvale and has gone for limited service. These men left from South Lawrence to which place they were taken in an automobile furnished by the Public Safety Committee. Today James S. Goodwin, Douglas Spark, Henry D. Bevins and Joseph H. Arsenault who reported Thursday for roll call at Georgetown, left, making with Sumner F. Pinkham and George H. Judge, sixteen men to go in one week.

Wm. M. Wood Buys Boxford Poor Farm

The Boxford poor farm has been purchased at auction by William M. Wood of Andover. This is a very delightful spot of almost one hundred acres, situated on the Baldpate Pond. Mr. Wood paid $19,300 for this piece of property, which will be most easily adaptable for beautiful development.

McIntosh Red Apples

Over one hundred years ago, McIntosh, a Canadian settler, found a wild apple tree with good fruit and improved it. Seeds and cuttings were sent all over Canada in 1896. The original tree was injured by fire but bore fruit till 1911, for fifteen years, and a marble pillar was raised where it grew. An African proverb says: "You can count the apples on one tree but you never can count the trees in one apple." This note was taken in 1916, when this apple seemed to lead in the market. Apples keep best in a box with holes bored to allow free circulation of air. If in a barrel, put holes in the head and turn on one side. Apples do not keep well in the same cellar with potatoes, as potatoes must be kept warmer than the fruit and it is better not to have ripening apples stored under the living-room of a house. Carbonic acid (it looks like that in my somewhat illegible note) is given off in the ripening. A potato cellar can be partitioned off from an apple cellar in most limited quarters, in the part nearest the furnace.

On the old Caldwell place now burned down, a Russell used to live who sold to a Goldsmith, who built the second homestead there about 1765. One of the two owners originated an apple called "Aunt Hannah", recalled by many elders who wonder if anyone saved a graft. I think it was named for Russell's second wife, Hannah Perkins of Danvers, whose relatives asked me first about this old apple. Danvers may have kept some of the seeds, and Shrewsbury where the Russells went from here. About so often I have a request about this "Aunt Hannah apple".

The "Cat Head apple" still survives on the Phillips Brooks farm in North Andover, if I am not too late, as I walked over to it near the house one day and secured a specimen. One sort called iron apples or Runnels by us in youth grew on the Hayward place on High street and kept till new apples came again in the fall and we made our first pandowdy of them. But nothing came up to the "Early Davidsons" in my estimation, that my uncle had at his place on Salem street. There may be old orchards in West Andover that still have this fruit with its red skin and white flesh so rich in flavor. C. H. A.

Junior Wolcott Avenue "Peaches"

The children of Wolcott avenue, anxious to be of assistance in the campaign to save peach stones, adopted a novel and effective method to collect them this week.

On Tuesday evening, twenty-one young folks of Wolcott avenue, with a few friends from adjacent streets, held a costume party, the girls dressing as boys and the boys dressing as girls, a small entrance fee being charged by the little girls in charge of the affair.

The following evening the money was expended in the purchase of a basket containing one hundred peaches and after the feast the stones were collected and sent to the Red Cross, the supply being just sufficient to make the carbon for one gas mask. On both evenings there were games, dancing and songs on the lawns of the neighborhood. Those participating were:—Martha Buttrick, Jemima Walker, Faith Cony, Samuel, Ruth and Marietta Battles, Charlie Collier, Helen Buttrick, Clare O'Connell, Edward Platt, Katherine and Edward Weeks, Marion H. Wilkinson, Virginia Ramsdell, Jean Donald, Margaret and Ruth May, Pearl Knight, Margaret Moore, Harriet Cheney and Walter Partridge.

Wedding

GREEN—WILLIAMSON

Miss Genevieve M. Williamson of Summer street and Arthur M. Green of Lowell were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at St. Augustine's church. Rev. Fr. Fogarty performed the ceremony. They were attended by Miss Esther Dwyer, niece of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Richard Dwyer, nephew of the bride, as best man.

The bride was charmingly attired in white crepe de chine, wore a veil and carried a bouquet of white asters, while the bridesmaid wore pale green crepe meteor with picture hat to match, and carried pale pink asters.

A small reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. M. M. Dwyer, 53 Summer street, following the ceremony, where gathered a few relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom, the only out-of-town guest being Miss Fannie Williamson of Boston.

After a short honeymoon they will make their home in Lowell where Mr. Green is employed as a stationary engineer at the Lowell Electric Light Station.

At the Guild House Tuesday evening a surprise party was given to Miss Etta Brown to celebrate her recovery from a recent operation. Dancing and games and the presentation of a pendant and chain to Miss Brown helped to make the evening a most pleasant occasion.

DELIVERIES

W. B. Endicott, Food Administrator, has issued the following letter to the stores concerning deliveries:

Grocers and provision dealers are urged to so arrange their business that teams do not make any unnecessary trips over any one route or to any one section of the city, and that not more than one delivery a day be made to any one family.

Householders are requested not to place orders with their grocer or provision dealer oftener than once a day, and so far as possible to place them the day before delivery is desired.

There is an overburden of deliveries at present on Fridays and Saturdays, and householders can greatly assist in relieving this by having all their nonperishable supplies delivered early in the week.

Householders should not expect more than one delivery a day, and they will perform a patriotic service by patronizing dealers who make no special deliveries.

SWIFT & COMPANY U.S.A.

Packers' Profits Are Regulated

The public should understand that the profits of the packers have been limited by the Food Administration since November 1, 1917. For this purpose, the business of Swift & Company is now divided into three classes:

Class 1 includes such products as beef, pork, mutton, oleomargarine and others that are essentially animal products. Profits are limited to 9 per cent of the capital employed in these departments, (including surplus and borrowed money), or not to exceed two and a half cents on each dollar of sales.

Class 2 includes the soap, glue, fertilizer, and other departments more or less associated with the meat business. Many of these departments are in competition with outside businesses whose profits are not limited. Profits in this class are restricted to 15 per cent of the capital employed.

Class 3 includes outside investments, such as those in stock yards, and the operation of packing plants in foreign countries. Profits in this class are not limited.

Total profits for all departments together in 1918 will probably be between three and four per cent on an increased volume of sales.

The restrictions absolutely guarantee a reasonable relation between live stock prices and wholesale meat prices, because the packer's profit cannot possibly average more than a fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Since the profits on meat (Class 1) are running only about 2 cents on each dollar of sales, we have to depend on the profits from soap, glue, fertilizer (Class 2, also limited) and other departments, (Class 3) to obtain reasonable earnings on capital.

Swift & Company is conducting its business so as to come within these limitations.

Swift & Company, U. S A.

TOWN OF ANDOVER

BUILDING LAWS

ANDOVER. MASSACHUSETTS

1918

TITLE

SECTION 1. This By-Law shall be known and cited as the Building Law.

INSPECTOR OF BUILDINGS

SECTION 2. The Board of Selectmen shall, within thirty days after the adoption of this By-Law and thereafter annually in April, appoint an Inspector of Buildings, who shall hold office for the term of one year or until such time as his successor is appointed.

His compensation shall be regulated by the Selectmen unless determined by a vote of the town at the annual March meeting preceding his appointment.

He shall not be interested in any contract or in the furnishing of materials for any building.

The Board of Selectmen shall have power to discharge the Inspector for failure to perform his duties, and to fill any vacancy in the office.

SECTION 3. The Inspector of Buildings may, so far as is necessary for the performance of his duties, enter any building or premises within the town at any reasonable hour.

SECTION 4. He shall keep a record of all business of the department, which record and all other books and papers relating to the transactions of the department shall be open at all times to the inspection of the Selectmen, and he shall submit to them a yearly report on such business and such other reports as they may require.

BUILDINGS AFFECTED

SECTION 5. No building shall be constructed or altered except in conformity with the provisions of this by-law, but nothing in this by-law shall be construed to apply to:—

(a) Bridges, quays, wharves or buildings or land owned or occupied by the United States or the Commonwealth.

(b) Small wooden buildings not to be used for habitable purposes, and not more than eight feet in length or breadth and seven feet in height.

APPLICATION

SECTION 6. A person intending to erect or make alterations in such building, or his duly authorized agent shall, seven days at least before he proceeds to build or erect the same, or lay the foundation thereof, or to make the said alterations, or to do any act for carrying into execution his intention to do such things, file with the Inspector of Buildings on blank forms furnished by the said official, a notice in writing of his intention, with plans and specifications, or a full written description of the structure to be erected, in such form as may be approved by the Inspector. The Inspector may also require, in his discretion, a survey of the lot on which any proposed building is to be erected to be filed with the application. Every application shall state the name and address of the owner. Duplicates of all plans and specifications or written descriptions, when approved by the Inspector, shall be kept at the building during the progress of the work, and shall be open to his inspection.

GRANTING OF PERMITS

SECTION 7. The Inspector shall not give a permit for the erection or alteration of any building until he shall have carefully inspected the plans, specifications and premises, and ascertained that the building as proposed will conform to this by-law. He shall grant permits for such erection, or alteration, when the plans and detailed descriptions are in conformity with this by-law and the laws of the Commonwealth. It shall be his duty to approve or reject any plans or descriptions filed with him, within ten days. No work shall be commenced until a permit is issued. He shall, as often as practicable, inspect all buildings in the course of construction or alteration, and shall make a record of all violations of these by-laws, with the name of the owner, occupant, architect and master-mechanic, and of any other matters pertinent thereto. If the Inspector finds that the terms of a permit are being violated, he may, after written notice to the person to whom the permit was issued, order the whole or any part of the work, which is being done under the permit, to be stopped, and such work shall not be resumed until the terms of the permit have been complied with.

Any permit or approval which may be issued by the Inspector of Buildings, but under which no work has been done above the foundation walls within one year from the time of the issuance of the permit or approval, shall expire by limitation. Said Inspector shall have power to revoke or cancel any permit or approval in case of any failure or neglect to comply with any provision of this by-law, or in case any false statement or representation is made in any specifications, plans or statements submitted or filed for such permit or approval. No building hereafter constructed or altered shall be occupied unless it conforms in its construction to the regulations of this by-law nor until the Inspector of Buildings has issued his certificate to that effect. The Inspector of Buildings shall not issue such certificate until the Board of Health has certified to him that the building conforms to all the requirements of its plumbing regulations. The Inspector of Buildings shall issue or refuse in writing to issue his certificate within fifteen days after written application therefor.

UNSAFE BUILDINGS

SECTION 8. The Inspector of Buildings shall examine every building or other structure which he has reason to believe unsafe or dangerous, and if he finds it unsafe or dangerous he shall, in writing, notify the owner, agent or any person having an interest therein, to remove it or make it safe and secure, and such person shall thereupon immediately remove it or make it safe.

APPEAL

SECTION 9. In case the owner of any building or other structure, or an applicant for a permit to erect or alter a building or other structure, is aggrieved by any order or decision of the Inspector of Buildings, he may file with the Inspector an objection in writing, and thereupon the matter shall be referred to the Selectmen who, within one week from said reference, shall hear the parties, and after taking such expert opinion as may seem to the Selectmen to be necessary, give their decision. In case the decision of the Inspector of Buildings be affirmed, the expense of such expert opinion taken by the Selectmen shall be paid to the town by the owner or applicant on demand, otherwise such expense shall be borne by the town.

DEFINITIONS

SECTION 10. Adjoining Owners. The owner or one of the owners of the premises adjoining those under construction.

Alteration. Any changes in or addition to a building.

Areas. Open spaces adjacent to buildings or the building line for lighting or ventilation.

Attic. (See Half Story).

Basement. A lower story partly underground but which, in the average, is at least one half above the average level of the adjoining ground. But in a building which is not used for human habitation such lower story may be deemed a first story, if the upper part of its floor is not below the level of an adjoining street, way, place, or suitable sized open area of vacant land and has proper means of ventilation and exit. All to the satisfaction of the Building Inspector.

Bearing Wall. Any wall which carries any load other than its own weight.

Builder. A person employed to build or to execute work on a building or where no person is so employed, the owner of the building.

Building, Wooden. A building of which the external wall is constructed wholly or partly of wood. Wood frames covered with metal shall be deemed to be wood construction.

Cellar. A story having more than one half of its height below the curb level, or below the average level of the adjoining ground.

Chimney. Any permanent or fixed flues or passages built into any building for conveying away products of combustion from furnaces, stoves, boilers, ranges, or fireplaces.

Corner Lot. A lot situated at the intersection of two or more streets or at the junction of two streets or where a street changes its direction provided the interior angle does not exceed 120 degrees.

Any portion of a corner lot distant more than seventy feet from either street line shall be treated as an interior lot.

Courts. An open, unoccupied space other than a yard on the same lot with a dwelling. If it does not extend to the street or front or rear yard it is an inner court. If it does so extend it is an outer court.

Curb Level. The level of an established curb in the front of the building at the center of the front. Where no curb has been established, the town shall establish such curb level or its equivalent for the purposes of this by-law.

Curtain Wall. A wall built between piers or iron, or steel columns and which is not a bearing wall.

Dwelling-house. Any house or building or portion thereof which is occupied in whole or in part as the home, residence or sleeping-place of one or more human beings, either permanently or transiently.

Private Dwelling-house. A house in which not more than two families dwell independently and in which no part is used for business purposes.

External Wall. Every outer wall or vertical enclosure of a building other than a party wall.

Flat Roof. A roof that pitches not more than four inches to the foot.

Footing. That part of any masonry foundations resting directly on the ground.

Foundation. That portion of a wall below the level of the street curb, or where the wall is not on a street below the level of the highest ground next to the wall, and shall include all piers below the curb level or below the floor of the first story.

Front and Rear of Lots. That boundary line which borders on the street is the front of the lot. In case of a corner lot the owner may elect by statement on his plans either street boundary line as the front.

The rear of the lot is the side opposite the front. In case of a triangular or gore lot the rear shall be the side not bordering on a street.

The depth of a lot is the dimension measured from the front to the extreme rear line of the lot. In case of irregular shaped lots the mean depth shall be taken.

Height of a Building. The vertical distance of the highest point of the roof above the mean grade of the curbs of all the streets or the mean grade of the natural ground adjoining the building if the said grade of the ground is not below the grade of the curb.

Height of a Wall. The vertical distance from the mean grade of the ground adjoining the wall to the highest point of the wall.

Interior Lot. Any other lot than a corner lot.

Lodging-house. A house or building or part thereof in which six or more persons are harbored, received, or lodged for hire, or any building or part thereof which is used as a sleeping-place or lodging for six or more persons not members of the family residing therein.

Length and Width of Building. The greatest linear dimension of any building is its length and the next greatest linear dimension its width.

Mansard Roof. A roof formed with an upper and under set of rafters, the upper more inclined to the horizon than the lower.

Occupied Space. Outside stairways, fire escapes, porches, platforms, and other projections shall be considered as part of the building and not as part of the yards or courts or unoccupied spaces.

Owner. Includes any part owner, joint owner, tenant in common or joint tenant of the whole or part of any building or land.

Partition Wall. Any interior wall of a building.

Party Wall. A wall that separates two or more buildings and is used or adapted for use of more than one building.

Public Hall. A hall, corridor or passageway not within an apartment.

Repairs. The reconstruction or renewal of any existing part of a building or of its fixtures or appurtenances by which the strength or fire risk is not affected or modified and not made for the purpose of converting the building in whole or in part to a new use.

Shaft. Includes exterior and interior shafts whether for air, light, elevator, dumbwaiter, or any other purpose.

Skylight. Any structure on or opening on a roof for the admission of light.

Span of Beam. The distance from center to center of its supports.

Stair Hall. Includes the stair, stair landings and those portions of the public halls through which it is necessary to pass in going between the entrance floor and the roof.

Story of a Building. That part of a building between the top of any floor beams and the top or roof beams next above.

Story, First. The story, the floor of which is first above the basement or cellar.

Story, Second. The story next above the first story.

Story, Half. Is a story in a sloping roof.

Story, Topmost. The uppermost story, whether constructed wholly or partly in the roof or not.

Street. Any public way not less than sixteen feet in width.

Tenement House. A house or building or part thereof which is rented, leased, let, or hired out to be occupied or is occupied or is intended, arranged, or designed to be occupied as the home or residence of two or more families, which families may consist of one or more persons living independently of each other and having a common right in the halls, stairways, yard, courts, cellar, sinks, water-closets, or privies or any of them. Where the occupants of dwelling-houses contiguous, and vertically, divided, each occupied and intended, arranged or designed to be occupied as the home or residence of one family or more have a common right in or use in common the halls stairways, yards, cellars, sinks, water-closets, or privies or any of them, such dwellings are tenement houses.

Thickness of a Wall. The minimum thickness of such wall.

Yard. An open unoccupied space on the same lot with a building between the extreme rear line of the house and the extreme rear line of the lot.

A front yard is an open unoccupied space between the front line of the building and the front line of the lot.

A side yard is an open unoccupied space between the side line of the building and the side line of the lot and shall be deemed an outer court on the lot line.

Words used in the present tense shall include the future; in the masculine, the feminine and neuter; in the singular, the plural, and in the plural, the singular; "shall" is always mandatory and not directory; occupied or used shall be construed as if followed by the words "or intended, arranged, designed, built, altered, converted to, rented, leased, let, hired, out, to be used or occupied". When any word designating any building premises or lot is used, it shall be construed as if followed by the words "or any part thereof".

The provision of these by-laws shall be held to be the minimum requirements for the protection of the health, welfare, and safety of the community.

PERCENTAGE OF LOT OCCUPIED

SECTION 11. No dwelling-house hereafter erected shall occupy either alone or with other buildings more than sixty-five per cent of a corner lot nor more than fifty per cent of any other lot; the measurements to be taken at the ground level. No measurements of lot area shall include any part of any street or alley.

HEIGHT OF BUILDING

SECTION 12. No dwelling-house hereafter erected shall exceed in height the width of the widest street upon which it stands, unless such house be set back from the street a distance at least equal to the excess of such height over the width of such street but in no event shall a wooden building hereafter erected to be used for a tenement house exceed forty-five feet in height nor have more than two stories below the attic floor, and every building hereafter enlarged or altered for use as dwelling-house shall be made to conform to the requirements of this section. In no wooden tenement house hereafter erected shall any story or any part thereof above the second story be occupied or arranged for housekeeping independently of the lower stories nor shall any provision be made for cooking nor shall any cooking be done above the second story.

Rear Lots

Section 13. No portion of a building hereafter erected or altered for use as a dwelling-house shall be placed nearer the rear lot line than a distance equal to one-half its height; but in no event shall such distance be less than ten feet.

Proximity to other Buildings

Section 14. No portion of any wooden dwelling-house hereafter erected shall be placed at less distance than ten feet from the side line of the lot upon which it is to be located or within ten feet of another wooden building except where a brick external wall of a thickness and built in the manner prescribed for external walls of brick buildings is substituted for a wooden wall.

Basement and Cellar Rooms

Section 15. In tenement houses hereafter erected no room in the basement or cellar shall be constructed, altered, converted or occupied for living purposes.

Cellars, Damp-proofing and Lighting of Section 16. Every tenement house hereafter erected shall have the walls below the ground level, and the cellar floor damp-proof. All cellars and basements in such tenement houses shall be properly lighted and ventilated and kept free from dampness in all their parts to the satisfaction of the Board of Health.

Spaces under Floors

Section 17. In any dwelling-house hereafter erected, under any part of which there is no cellar, the first or ground floor shall be at least two feet above the ground beneath and that adjacent thereto, and the space beneath such floor shall be kept free and clear, and shall be inclosed to prevent the accumulation of rubbish, but provided with ample ventilation and adequate drainage.

Foundations

Section 18. Excavations for stone foundations shall be made at least six inches beyond the outside of foundation walls and shall not be back-filled until inspected. The foundations of all buildings for dwellings, except as provided in Section 19, shall be walls of masonry at least sixteen inches thick and piers of masonry or iron, laid in cement mortar; but cellar walls may be laid dry to within six inches of the finished grade, provided they are properly pointed inside with cement and lime mortar. All wooden buildings not more than two stories in height, may be built wholly or in part upon piers or posts. The foundations of all buildings must rest on solid ground or leveled surfaces of solid rock, or on piles, concrete, or other solid substance. Such foundation, other than solid rock, must not be exposed less than three feet below the adjacent surface of the ground exposed to frost. Piazzas and porches shall have suitable foundations of stone, brick, iron or concrete, built on solid bottoms, not less than three feet below, and extending not less than three inches above the finished grade. All foundations under masonry walls and piers shall be at least four inches wider than the finished wall or pier.

Concrete Specifications

Section 19. Cellar and house walls of concrete shall be poured with forms upon both sides and shall be well rammed to place. For houses two stories or more in height the thickness of the cellar walls shall be at least twelve inches, and for one-story houses the thickness shall be at least eight inches. The proportions of the mixture shall be in volume as follows:—

One part of Atlas Portland Cement or a brand of equal grade; two parts of clean, sharp sand; five parts of broken stone or well screened gravel.

No concrete or other mason work shall be erected when the temperature is below freezing.

Fire Walls

Section 20. No building, to be used as a dwelling, shall hereafter be erected, and no existing building shall be altered or added to for such purpose, thereby giving it a frontage of more than fifty feet, without one or more partition walls of brick or some fire-resisting material, approved by the Inspector, extending from the bottom of the cellar or from a foundation wall to the under side of the roof-boarding, which shall be laid and be imbedded in mortar upon said wall. Such walls shall not be more than fifty feet apart throughout the length of the building. No existing building having a frontage of more than fifty feet shall be converted for use as a dwelling-house, without at least one partition wall, constructed as described in this section. Provided, however, that any single dwelling-house used for one family may be extended more than fifty feet in one direction without such partition wall.

Apartment House Fire Walls

Section 21. All houses arranged for the occupancy side by side of more than two families shall have a fireproof partition wall between each apartment, consisting either of a brick wall, not less than eight inches thick, extending from the cellar bottom to the under side of the roof-boarding, or of a brick or concrete wall not less than eight inches thick, extending from the cellar bottom to the top side of the first floor timbers, and above that to the under side of the roof-boarding, of two by four-inch studding, with the spaces between filled solid with bricks and mortar, or other fireproof material, not less than four inches thick, to make a smoke-tight barrier between the apartments.

Wooden Frame Buildings

Section 22. All wooden frame buildings shall be built with sills, posts, girts and plates, girts to be tenoned into the posts. All buildings shall be braced in each story and in cross-partitions if deemed necessary by the Inspector. No wall or ceiling of any building shall be lathed or otherwise covered until the Inspector has been notified in writing that the building is ready for such work, and until he has given written consent therefor. The Inspector shall act on such notice within forty-eight hours of its receipt.

In all wooden buildings not exceeding three stories in height the posts of which exceed twenty-two feet in length, the sills shall be not less than six by six inches, and the posts and girts not less than four by six inches; in all such buildings the posts of which are twenty-two feet or less in length, the sills shall be not less than four by six inches, laid flatwise, and the posts and girts not less than four by six inches; in all wooden buildings the studding of the outside walls shall not be less than two by four inches, set not more than sixteen inches on centres; in all wooden buildings the studding in all partitions carrying floor timbers shall not be less than two by four inches, set not more than sixteen inches on centres, and resting on girders not less than six by eight inches. All window studding to be not less than three by four inches. Ledger boards may be used in place of girts in one and one-half story houses or in dwellings where the attic floor is below the plates, if the spaces back of the ledger boards between studding shall be filled with joists of same size as wall-studs, cut in tight so as to prevent a draft in case of fire. All self-supporting walls or partitions above the first floor in any building shall be trussed in a manner approved by the Inspector.

Floor Timbers

Section 23. Floor timbers in dwelling-houses, when of good, sound spruce set sixteen inches on centres, shall be of the following sizes:— for a span not exceeding ten feet the timbers shall be not less than two by seven inches; for a span not exceeding thirteen feet the timbers shall be not less than two by eight inches; for a span not exceeding fifteen feet the timbers shall be not less than two by nine inches; for a span not exceeding seventeen feet the timbers shall be not less than two by ten inches; for a span not exceeding eighteen feet the timbers shall be not less than two by twelve inches; for a span not exceeding twenty feet the timbers shall be not less than two by fourteen inches; for a span not exceeding twenty-two feet the timbers shall be not less than three by twelve inches; for a span not exceeding twenty-four feet the timbers shall be not less than three by fourteen inches in size. In case other sizes, materials, and spacings are used for floor supports, the arrangements must be such as to secure a strength equivalent to that given above in the specifications for spruce. All floor timbers of eight feet or more span shall be bridged at intervals not greater than six feet apart with bridging at least one by two inches in size.

Girders when of good, sound spruce shall be not less than six by eight inches under main partitions. Summers or floor timbers doubled, or their equivalent shall be used under all cross partitions in the first floors of all dwellings. Headers and trimmers of all openings more than four feet square in the floors of dwellings shall be floor joints doubled or their equivalent. Beams under carrying partitions in the first floors shall be supported on piers or cement filled iron posts, the latter not less than three and one-half inches in diameter, or their equivalent, the same to be spaced not more than eight feet apart on centres. In case structural steel or hard pine beams are used the spacing of the posts shall be such as to give a supporting strength equivalent to the above specifications for spruce. Floor timbers for any attic whether finished or unfinished, to which there is access by stairs shall not be less than two by seven inches.

All cutting of floor timbers for the passage of pipes shall be on their upper edges, and no cut shall exceed two inches in depth, or be made more than three feet from the bearing point of the timber unless the consent of the Inspector has first been obtained. No cutting in the under side of a floor timber will be allowed for any reason.

Roof Timbers

Section 24. In buildings which are eighteen feet or more in width, rafters for pitched roofs shall measure not less than two by six inches, and be spaced not more than twenty inches on centres; in buildings which are less than eighteen feet in width, the size of rafters may be determined by the Inspector. Valley rafters twelve feet or more in length shall not be less than two by eight inches. All timbers herein mentioned are to be solid sticks excepting the plates, which may be in two pieces, each two by four inches, thoroughly spiked together. Flat roofs shall be timbered the same as floors.

Brick Buildings, Bond

Section 25. All brick walls shall be built with proper bond and all intersections of walls shall be thoroughly bonded together with brick or tied together with wrought iron straps as often as every eight feet in height. Floor beams shall be anchored to brick walls on which they rest and to each other so as to form continuous ties across the building at least every ten feet.

Brick Dwelling-houses, Thickness of Walls

Section 26. External walls of brick dwelling-houses, if not more than twelve feet in height, above the foundation walls, shall be not less than eight inches thick for their entire height; if two stories and not more than twenty-five feet in height, they shall not be less than twelve inches thick to the top of the second floor, and not less than eight inches thick for the remaining height; and if three stories and more than twenty-five feet in height, they shall be not less than twelve inches thick to the top of the third floor, and not less than eight inches thick for the remaining height.

External Walls, Brick Buildings other than Dwelling-houses

Section 27. The external walls of all brick buildings, other than dwelling-houses, if not more than forty feet in height, above the foundation walls, shall be of the following thickness. Walls for the two topmost stories shall be at least twelve inches in thickness; for the next two stories, reckoning downward, at least sixteen inches in thickness, and for all subsequent stories an increase of four inches in thickness, shall be secured for each twenty-five feet in height. Provided, however, that the method known as "Mill Construction" may be used, whereby the external walls are constructed of a series of piers, of such width as the Inspector may approve, and of the thickness above prescribed for the external wall. Said piers to be connected by curtain walls. Said curtain walls shall be well bonded to the piers, and not less than eight inches thick, in which all windows or other openings must be made. All floors must be supported on the piers and no portion of a floor shall for any reason be supported on curtain walls.

The external walls of brick buildings, not exceeding twenty-five feet in height and covering an area not exceeding two thousand square feet, to be used for stables or light mechanical purposes, may be twelve inches thick.

Party Walls of Brick Buildings other than Dwelling-houses

Section 28. Party walls and all partition walls of brick, in all buildings other than dwelling-houses with external walls not exceeding forty feet in height, shall be not less than sixteen inches to the top of the second floor, and not less than twelve inches thick for the remaining height, and, in buildings having external walls exceeding forty feet in height, said walls shall be not less than twenty inches thick to the top of the second floor, nor less than sixteen inches thick to the top of the third floor, and not less than twelve inches thick for the remaining height.

Doorways

Section 29. No opening or doorway shall be cut through or formed in a party partition wall of any building without a permit from the Inspector of Buildings, and every such doorway shall have its top, bottom and sides of stone, brick or iron, and shall be closed by two doors of wood, covered with metal, with an air-space between them of at least four inches, and said doors shall be hung to slide or swing in wooden frames entirely covered with metal, or to iron hinges or track in brick or stone rabbets

Piers and Columns

Section 30. All brick piers shall be built of the best quality of good, well-burnt, hard brick, laid in cement and sand mortar and well wet when laid in warm weather. Brick piers under lintels, girders or columns of brick buildings shall have a properly proportioned cap of castiron or steel the full size of the pier. Brick piers and buttresses shall be bonded with through courses, leveled and bedded each course, and where their foundations rest upon piles a sufficient number shall be driven to insure a proper support.

Chimneys

Fireproofing Details

Section 36. a. All elevator wells, clothes chutes, and light shafts, unless built of brick, shall be filled in flush between the wooden studs with fireproof materials, or lined with metal or plastered on metal lathing, as may be directed by the Inspector, and all woodwork inside of such wells or shafts shall be lined with tin plate lock-jointed.

b. Where floor beams rest on partition caps or on girders, wall girts or wooden sills shall be filled in between such beams, from the caps, girders, girts or sills to four inches above lining floor above, solid, with brick and mortar or other fireproof material.

c. In brick buildings the space between the furring on the outside walls, or brick partitions, shall be filled flush with mortar for a space of five inches in width above and below the floor beams of each story.

d. Where basement or other flights of stairs are enclosed by partitions of brick or wood, the space between the studs or wall furring shall be so fire-stopped with brick or mortar as to effectually prevent any fire from passing up between such studs or furring back of the stair stringers.

e. All flights of stairs between two floors shall have a smoke-stop built between the stringers and properly constructed.

f. A space of at least one inch shall be left between all woodwork and the chimneys, also around all hot-air and steam pipes; these spaces around chimneys and pipes where they pass through the floors shall be stopped with metal or other fireproof material, smoke tight. Steam pipes shall have metal sleeves and collars one-half inch larger in diameter than the pipe.

g. All channels and pockets for gas, water and soil pipes shall be made smoke-tight at each floor.

h. The space around all metal or brick ventilating ducts shall be fire-stopped at each floor with a metal or fireproof material as approved by the Inspector.

i. Where a building is occupied above the first floor for tenements or a lodging-house, and the lower story is occupied for stores and other purposes not connected with the upper floors, the stairways leading to such upper floors shall be enclosed with brick walls or wooden partitions; said partitions shall be covered with metallic lath and plaster or other fireproof material.

Electric Wiring

Section 37. Disapproved.

Heating

Section 38. Disapproved.

Light and Ventilation

Section 39. In every tenement house, dwelling or place where people are employed, hereafter erected, every room shall have at least one window opening directly upon the street or upon the yard, or court, an outer or inner, except that kitchenettes, pantries, water-closet compartments and bath-rooms may have such windows opening upon a light-well. All windows shall be so located as to properly light all parts of such rooms. No light-well shall be less than three feet in its least dimension nor less in area than twelve square feet for one story, and must be increased six square feet in area for each additional story, and the walls of such light-well shall be constructed of incombustible material.

Shafts and Courts

Section 40. In every tenement house hereafter erected there shall be, at the bottom of every shaft and court, a door giving sufficient access to such shaft or court to enable it to be properly cleaned.

Windows in Room

Section 41. In every tenement house hereafter erected the total window area in each room, including water-closet compartments and bath-rooms, shall be at least one-eighth of the floor area of the room. The above window measurements shall be taken between the stop-beads.

Size of Rooms

Section 42. In every tenement house hereafter erected there shall be in each apartment at least one room containing not less than one hundred and forty square feet of floor area. Each room shall be in every part not less than eight feet high from the finished floor to the finished ceiling, except that an attic room need be seven feet six inches high in but one-half of its floor area.

Privacy

Section 43. In every apartment in any tenement house hereafter erected, access to every living-room and bedroom and to at least one water-closet shall be had without passing through any bedroom.

Chimneys and Fireplaces

Section 44. In every tenement house hereafter erected, there shall be at least one adequate chimney running through every floor with an open fireplace or grate or place for a stove, properly connected with said chimney, for every apartment.

Public Halls

Section 45. In every tenement house hereafter erected, every public hall shall have at least one window, of the dimensions specified for rooms in this by-law, at each story, opening directly upon the street or upon a yard. Any part of a public hall which is shut off from any other part of said hall by a door shall be deemed a separate hall within the meaning of this section.

Stairways

Section 46. Every tenement house hereafter erected shall have two separate stairways leading from each apartment to the ground, access to these stairways being at two points as far apart as possible.

Repapering

Section 47. No wallpaper or kalsomine or other wash shall be placed upon any wall or ceiling or other portion of any tenement house unless all old paper, kalsomine or wash shall first be removed therefrom and said wall or other portion of building thoroughly cleaned.

Access to Flat Roofs

Section 48. Every building over two stories high and having a flat roof shall have permanent access to the roof, from the inside of the building, through an opening at least two feet by three feet, with fixed step-ladder or stair. Such opening shall have direct access from a public corridor or a stair hall and shall not be equipped with a lock.

Roof Houses

Section 49. No roof houses shall be constructed on any building above the highest level permitted for the roof, except over stairs, tanks, elevators and elevator machinery, and such houses shall be no larger than is necessary to serve properly their purpose, and as approved.

Parapets

Section 50. No part of any parapet on a roof shall be more than six feet above the highest level permitted for the roof.

Skylight

Section 51. All skylights on roofs of buildings shall be metal and glass, and shall not be at any point higher than six feet above the highest level permitted for the roof except with special approval. Skylights not glazed with wire glass shall be protected with wire screens when required by the Inspector of Buildings.

Bays, Balconies, Porches, Cornices and Other Projections

Section 52. No parts of a building other than those mentioned in this division, shall project over any street, square or other public way.

Cornices may project a distance equal to one-twentieth of the width of the public way; provided, however, that in no case shall they in any part project more than three feet.

Window caps and sills, string courses and other projections may project one quarter of the projection allowed for a cornice of the wall on which they occur.

Rain-water leaders and conductors shall not project more than seven inches.

Signs and marquises shall be allowed, if approved by the Board of Selectmen.

Roof Water

Section 53. No roof shall be so arranged as to discharge water, ice or snow upon a public way or adjoining property.

Exceptions

Section 54. Temporary buildings may be erected for the use of builders within the limits of the lots whereon buildings are in course of erection, or on adjoining vacant lots, and other temporary structures including platforms, stands, election booths, and tents may be erected upon permits issued by the Inspector and may be maintained for the period of time stated in the permit. No observation stand shall be constructed or maintained except in accordance with plans approved by the Inspector.

Billboards

Section 55. No billboards or signboards shall be erected or placed upon any building or structure or the roof thereof or upon the ground, unless the same be safely supported and securely fastened thereto.

Icehouses

Section 56. Buildings to be used exclusively for the storage of ice may be erected in isolated localities and constructed of such materials and under such conditions as the Inspector may prescribe.

Fire Limits

Section 57. Fire limits are established as follows:

Beginning at a point on the westerly side of Main Street on the southerly side of Stimson's Bridge, and running thence westerly along the southerly side of the Shawsheen River to a point 150 feet westerly from the westerly side of Main Street, thence southerly on a line parallel with and distant 150 feet westerly from the westerly side of Main Street to a point 150 feet from Stevens Street, thence westerly and southwesterly on a line parallel with and distant 150 feet northerly from the northerly line of Stevens Street, to land of Abbie Smith; thence southerly by the easterly boundary line of said Smith's land to Stevens Street, thence westerly by Stevens Street, to its intersection with Shawsheen Road; thence southeasterly by Shawsheen Road to a point 400 feet northwesterly from the northerly side of Cuba Street, thence southwesterly at a right angle with Shawsheen Road 100 feet, to a point; thence southeasterly on a line parallel with, and distant 100 feet from the southerly side of Shawsheen Road to a point 150 feet from Cuba Street, thence southwesterly and southerly on a line parallel with, and distant 150 feet westerly from the westerly side of Cuba Street to Red Spring Road, thence northeasterly by Red Spring Road to Essex Street, thence easterly by Essex Street to the east side of Shawsheen River; thence southerly along the easterly side of said river to a point distant 100 feet from Essex Street, thence easterly on a line parallel with, and distant 100 feet southerly from the southerly line of Essex Street to the base line of the Boston & Maine Railroad, right of way; thence southerly by said base line to a point in the prolongation of the northerly side of School Street, thence southeasterly by School Street to Central Street, thence southerly by Central Street, to a point distant 150 feet from School Street, thence southeasterly on a line parallel with and distant 150 feet westerly from the westerly side of School Street to Abbot Street, thence easterly by Abbot Street to School Street, thence southeasterly by School Street to Main Street, thence northerly by Main Street to Wheeler Street, thence easterly by Wheeler Street to Bartlet Street, thence easterly on a line in the prolongation of the northerly side of Wheeler Street, to a point 150 feet distant from Bartlet Street, thence northerly on a line parallel with, and distant 150 feet easterly from the easterly line of Bartlet Street to the southerly line of land of the Town of Andover occupied by the Public Schools, thence westerly by the southerly line of said town's land to Bartlet Street, thence northerly by Bartlet Street to Whittier Street, thence easterly by the Southerly line of Whittier Street to an angle, thence easterly on a line with the southerly line of Whittier Street, produced to a point distant 150 feet from Whittier Street, thence northerly on a line parallel with and distant 150 feet easterly from the easterly line of Whittier Street to Elm Street, thence westerly by Elm Street, to a point distant 150 feet from Wolcott Avenue, thence northerly on a line parallel with and distant 150 feet easterly from the easterly line of Wolcott Avenue to Walnut Avenue, thence by Walnut Avenue, to the dividing line between land of Parmenas W. Partridge and land formerly of John H. Flint, thence northerly and westerly following the easterly and northerly boundary line of said Flint's land to High Street, at a point adjoining Carmel Woods, thence southerly by High Street to Harding Street, thence westerly by Harding Street, to a point distant 200 feet from Main Street, thence northerly on a line parallel with, and distant 200 feet easterly from the easterly line of Main Street, to the Shawsheen River, thence westerly by the Shawsheen River to the point of beginning.

Roofing Materials

Section 58. The roof of every building hereafter erected or recovered in whole or in part within the fire limits herein established, and the top of every wood cornice, the top and sides of every dormer window and every other projection from such roof, shall be covered with fire-resisting material.

Fire-resisting material specified above, shall include slate, tile, asbestos, cement, tar and gravel, plastic slate, copper, tin, heavy asphalt-felt shingles of which the exposed surface is composed of slate chips or gravel, and such other incombustible material as may be approved in writing by the Inspector of Buildings.

This section shall apply to the roof of any tenement house hereafter erected or recovered in whole or in part wherever located.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the use of wood shingles in repairing any roof now covered with wood shingles, provided that the area so repaired shall not exceed one quarter of the total shingled area of the roof and provided the building is not altered in height or otherwise generally reconstructed.

Enforcement

Section 59. The chief of police upon the application of the Inspector of Building shall cause complaint to be made before the proper court for any violation of any provision of this by-law.

The Board of Selectmen upon the application of the Inspector of Buildings may institute proceedings to enforce this by-law and to enjoin the erection, continuance or occupation of any building in violation of the provisions of this by-law.

Penalty

Section 60. Whoever violates any provision of this by-law shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars for each offense to be paid into the treasury of the town of Andover.

Some of the Bits Your Liberty Bond Will Do

If you buy a one-hundred dollar bond of the Fourth Liberty Loan, you are lending the United States Government enough money to feed a soldier in France a little more than seven months. Or you have furnished enough money to give him a complete outfit of winter and summer clothing, including shoes and stockings, and slicker and overcoat and blankets, with enough left over to arm him with a good revolver. You have done that much to beat back the Hun.

It takes thirty-five dollars more to arm him with a rifle with a bayonet on it, and if you buy a second one-hundred dollar bond, you furnish him this rifle and one thousand cartridges for it; and there will still be enough of your money left to purchase a goodsized bomb to throw in a dugout, or demolish a machine gun, together with the Huns operating it.

Coffee House at Ayer

As a number of Andover people have showed their interest in the Coffee House at Ayer, a statement of its success and of its further needs is brought to the attention of Townsman readers.

The house supplies well-served meals at cost. It furnishes a comfortable lounging-room and smoking-room for soldiers, a quiet reading and writing-room, and hot baths at twenty-five cents each. Books, magazines and games are supplied. There are a piano and victrola and a general atmosphere of informality and comfort pervades the house. Special suppers for the entertainment of parties of soldiers are becoming popular.

The large double wooden house on the Main street between the cantonment and the town which was purchased has been remodelled and equipped at an expense of about sixty-nine hundred dollars, to fit the requirements of the soldiers. A resident hostess, a resident manager, and an excellent cook with necessary assistants have been secured, many of whom are the wives of soldiers stationed at the cantonment, and, judging by the words of praise and the large patronage of the soldiers, it appears that the Suffrage Coffee House has now made the place for itself in Ayer which we hoped for when the project was started. The military and sanitary inspectors give the house a rating of ninety-five per cent., the highest in town. The reception room and comfort stations for the women relatives and friends of the soldiers have supplied a very pressing need in Ayer and have apparently been greatly appreciated. The House is run on the basis of an eight hour day for employees, and along democratic lines.

Various visiting hostesses give their week-ends at the Coffee House when the number of visitors is very large, and members of the regular committee go to Ayer sufficiently often to keep in touch with conditions there.

The House is now almost self-supporting, that is, it practically pays its own running expenses although nothing, of course, is counted for rent, a very large item for desirable locations in Ayer at this time, nothing for interest on the money put into it, or for the many helpers who volunteer their time in various capacities.

Because the House has become so popular, it is necessary from time to time to install improvements at considerable expense, but, as this is not a money-making venture, the Committee does not feel that these should be paid for from the receipts of the Coffee House.

Besides the comfort and conveniences which the Coffee House furnishes to the soldiers, the Committee wishes to emphasize the great service it renders to their mothers, wives and sweethearts.

Improvements to facilitate service, and additional equipment to the following extent have been found necessary for the Suffrage Coffee House:

Screened service porch and dish-washing room	$992.41
Screens	180.00
Awnings	180.00
Painting outside of House	211.03
Planting around House and Plumbing and Heating	507.81
(Additional work and connections for mechanical dish-washer, (required by sanitary authorities)
Eish-Washer and Electric Fans	130.00
Extra Kitchen Utensils	76.00
Linoleum	63.34
Electric Work	15.32
	$2291.41

The Committee does not feel justified in considering these items as part of running expenses. Will you help to pay for them? Any amount you may give will be much appreciated, and will be received by Mrs. Horace M. Poynter, 21 Phillips street.

A Letter from the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense

August 31, 1918

If the vegetables raised this season in the thousands of war gardens are not properly stored for winter use, the hard work of many months and much expense will be wasted. An ordinary heated cellar is too hot and dry for fruit and vegetables, and an unheated one too cold. Proper, uniform temperature, moisture and ventilation are the requisites for safe keeping and these can be secured in a scientifically built room and at small expense, in any home cellar. Enough may be stored in a room 6 x 10 feet to last a family of six from November to April.

The Massachusetts Agricultural College has issued a very comprehensive pamphlet (Extension Bulletin 26) giving definite directions and diagrams for aid in building this cold storage room. The directions are so simple as to be well within the scope of even the most amateur carpenter, and further directions are given as to what vegetables may be stored and the best methods of placing the different fruits and vegetables in various bins, racks and boxes.

These bulletins may be secured from any local Food Administrators, the County Agricultural Agents or at the Administration cottage of the Conservation group on Boston Common, where a model has been built and stocked as a further aid to the public in caring for their garden produce. An attendant will be on hand each day until after the Harvest season, to give advice in this matter to all who desire.

A lady on one of the ocean liners who seemed very much afraid of icebergs, asked the captain what would happen in case of a collision. The captain replied, "The iceberg would move right along madam, just as if nothing had happened," and the old lady seemed greatly relieved.

South Church Notes

The Sunday School sessions resume as usual on the second Sunday in September. The date, September 8, is the earliest possible one, as it happens this year, and some of the teachers and scholars have not returned; but many who will be present will enjoy a reunion and will help to get the forces together for the fall campaign.

The choir will assemble on Friday, September 20, for their first rehearsal. In the meantime there will be soloists provided for the morning services. A. W. Bassett sang last Sunday.

The stars in the South church service flag have been increasing and have reached the number sixty-two. Happily none have been changed as yet to the gold.

It is hoped that the postponed memorial service at the Missionary Bowlder may be held on the Sunday afternoon of September 15, add it will have the additional significance of a memorial to Mr. Carpenter who placed it there.

PROBATE COURT

ESSEX, ss.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Martha A. Russell late of Andover in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for probate, by Hattie L. R. Abbott who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem in said County of Essex, on the sixteenth day of September A.D. 1918, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks in the Andover Townsman, a newspaper published in Andover, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Harry R. Dow, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of August in the year one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.
